We Bostonians pride ourselves on the abundance of overnights, weekend trips, and quick jaunts we have at our fingertips, from Cape Cod beaches to the tranquil woods of Vermont and the Berkshires. This year, however, it seems like quarantine life has given us the short end of the stick. Now, as the travel industry seems to slowly yet surely adapt to this new world of health and safety protocols, the time finally feels right to find some well-deserved, much-needed respite. Here, we've hand-picked some of our favorite weekend getaways from Boston. Some are new and some are recurring favorites—but all of them will help you take back your 2020.

Woodstock Inn & Resort—Woodstock, Vermont

Welcome to the choose-your-own-adventure of New England resorts. Scenic Green Mountains with hiking and leaf peeping? Obviously. Falconry? You bet. Tennis, fly fishing, an 18-hole championship golf course, pool, spa, and farm-to-table program? Absolutely. What began as a tavern in 1793 has become one of Vermont's most enduring, important resorts. Your only issue with getting away is that you might not get to it all in a single visit.
